READING COMPREHENSION

I. Read the five short articles below. There are two (2) exercises to do after you read.

1.

When Mrs McCurry was driving home last night, she took a wrong turn. She managed to keep driving as she thought that the water splashing outside her car was the heavy rain.

2.

Two young men were celebrating their university graduation at the Penguin Club, Dorchester, when the restaurant door opened.

3.

The police found two teenagers building an igloo in the middle of a city street. They were planning to spend the night in it. The boys said, "In that white snow every road looked the same.".....

4.

While old Mrs Otolini was watching one of her favourite detective programs on the telly, her house was burgled by a gang of young people. Some of them were caught.

5.

The police were following the snowy footprints which led them to the nearest supermarket. The burglars were packing their stolen goods when two policemen came in and arrested them.

II. The headings are missing from the articles (1-5). Match the headings below (A-E) to the articles. Put your answers in the spaces provided above the article, next to the article number.

- A – Penguin celebration
- B – Wet driving
